

STELLA ART FOUNDATION

is a non-profit organization founded in November 2004. Its goal is to support modern Russian art, and to integrate it into the international artistic context, as well as to participate in charitable acts comprising the potential of contemporary art. In two years Foundation plans to open a Museum of Contemporary Art, where it's vast collection of Russian and Western conceptual art will be permanently exhibited to show the inner versatile dialogue of these cultural spheres. Earlier the Russian-Austrian Contemporary Art Academy will be opened in cooperation with the University of Applied Arts of Vienna, which will be the first of that kind in Russia.
